2012 Halloween Spectacle

On October 27, 2012 the City and Downtown Development Authority will host a large-scale community outdoor performance of giant puppetry, percussion and theatrical dance. Ravens on skates, zombie folk dancers, stilt walking spirits, a life-size dragon and skeleton marching band are just a few of the enchanted. As the evening grows dark, the community is invited to join in processions throughout the City converging in the Marquette Commons to witness Marquette's first Halloween Spectacle.

Procession: sunset 6:41p.m. We invite all costumed revelers to join in the processions, which are located at Peter White Library, Mattson Park, Harlow Park and Rock Street Parking Lot

Spectacle: 7p.m. Marquette Commons

This spectacle of pageantry encourages community collaboration and creation of a new community tradition. The Arts and Culture Center will host workshops in large-scale puppetry, instrument making and theater macabre one month prior to the performance. Be a part of this unforgettable event.
